

Much like these student comments, I too, am deeply appreciative of Marv's unflinching commitment to high quality teaching that engages each student as an individual with their unique learning abilities.

Upon the Centennial of the Department, this not so young colleague of Marv Adleman would like to recognize him with an award named for another, then young, colleague from Cornell, the Jot Carpenter Teaching Medal.

Sincerely,

Peter J. Trowbridge

Peter J. Trowbridge, F.A.S.L.A.

Professor